

Attention contractors:

Would you like to have the government pay for 2/3 of the cost to have your employees become Certified Irrigation Contractors ?

The Alberta and Canadian governments have a program to help employers retain and train workers. The catch: must be at least 24 hours of training and done within 52 weeks. With the upcoming IA course week, the CPCIA provides an organized and local opportunity to take training.

With this program your employees could become Certified Irrigation Contractors for $900 with $1800 paid by the government.

See this guide:

http://www.albertacanada.com/CAJG\_Applicant\_Guide.pdf

Then select courses from our training brochure:

<http://cpcia.ca/wp-content/uploads/2015/10/CPCIA-Class-Brochure-2016.pdf>

|           |  |          |
|-----------|--|----------|
| Mon/Tue   | Principles of Irrigation: Landscape            | 16 hours |
| Wednesday | Irrigation System Installation and Maintenance | 8 hours  |
| Thurs/Fri | Irrigation Contractor                          | 16 hours |

Plus the how to pass the Contractor exam course 16 hours

It would be a total of 56 hours of training and the price would be approximately $2,650 of which the government would cover $1,749.00 and the business owner would pay $901.00.
Employees must be Canadian citizens

Deadline for early payment is Feb 29